Dr. Joshua Lederberg,
Professor of Genetics,
School of Medicine,
Stanford University, Medical Center,
Palo Alto, California.

Dear Dr. Lederberg:

Enclosed is the carbon copy of the text I sent to Ciba last August and also of the summary they asked for. As these are the only copies I have I should be grateful if you would be so kind as to return them to me when you have finished with them. I do not have any copy of the talk I gave in the meeting as it was done without a text or notes. It was largely elaboration of some of the aspects of the text provided.

I am honoured that you found the material interesting. I had the impression that some of the participants felt that it was hardly to be classified under the heading of "biology", but the removal of that word from the title of the conference, I felt, also removed the objection. It certainly has much to do with the future of man.

Again, many thanks for your interest and I hope you will find the text worth reading.

Sincerely yours,

Brock Chisholm
